NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

8	REYNALDO AYALA,)	No. C 10-0979 JSW (PR)
9	Plaintiff,)	ORDER REFERRING CASE
10	v.)	TO FEDERAL PRO BONO
11	ROBERT AYERS, JR., et al.,)	PROJECT; DENYING
12	Defendants.)	MOTION FOR
		_____	INTERLOCUTORY APPEAL
			(Docket Nos. 33, 35)

14 Plaintiff, a California prisoner proceeding pro se, filed this civil rights action under 15 42 U.S.C. § 1983. On September 22, 2011, the Court denied the motion to dismiss filed 16 by Defendants Faria, Wagner, Guthrie, Schlosser, and Hansen, granted the motion for 17 summary judgment of Defendant Coleman, and referred the case to Magistrate Judge
18 Nandor Vadas for mediation. One Defendant, Edmonds, had not been served; Plaintiff
19 was given thirty days to provide an address at which he could be served. All proceedings 20 in the case except those related to the mediation and matters related to the service of 21 Edmonds were stayed pending mediation. A motion for leave to file a motion to 22 reconsider filed by Defendants was subsequently denied as being in violation of the stay.
23 Judge Vadas then reported that the case did not settle. The Court lifted the stay, and 24 because Plaintiff had not provided an address for Edmonds; the claims against him were 25 dismissed.

26 Defendants renewed their motion to reconsider, specifically to reconsider the 27 Court's rejection of their contention that Plaintiff's claims against them were filed one 28 day too late. The gist of their motion was that the Court erred in ruling that Plaintiff is

1 entitled to two years of tolling under California Civil Procedure Code Section 352.1
2 based upon his imprisonment. The Court denied the motion for reconsideration because 3 Defendants did not meet the requirements of the local rule for obtaining leave to file such 4 a motion, they did not contend that there were matters of law or fact that they failed to 5 present to the Court at the time the motion to dismiss was submitted, that new facts have 6 emerged or the law has changed, or that the Court failed to consider material facts that 7 were presented to it. See Civil L.R. 7-9(b).

8 Defendants have filed a motion for certification for an interlocutory appeal of the 9 order denying their motion to dismiss. Plaintiff has filed a motion for appointment of 10 counsel.

11 1. Interlocutory Appeal

12 This Court may certify an order for interlocutory appeal if: (1) the order involves a 13 controlling question of law; (2) as to which there is substantial ground for difference of 14 opinion; and (3) an immediate appeal from the order may materially advance the ultimate 15 termination of the litigation. 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b).

16 Defendants do not show that there is a substantial ground for a difference of 17 opinion on the controlling question of law -- whether Plaintiff is entitled to tolling under 18 Section 352.1. Defendants repeat the argument that they made in their motion for 19 reconsideration that the Court erred in ruling that Section 352.1 applies to an inmate, such 20 as Plaintiff, who is in prison for life. The Ninth Circuit has found that “[t]he California 21 courts have read out of the [Section 352.1] the qualification that the period of 22 incarceration must be ‘for a term less than for life’ in order for a prisoner to qualify for 23 tolling.” Jones v. Blanas, 393 F.3d 918, 928 n. 5 (9th Cir.2004) (citing Grasso v.
24 McDonough Power Equip., 264 Cal. App. 2d 597 (1968), and Martinez v. Gomez, 137
25 F.3d 1124, 1126 (9th Cir.1998)). This Court relied upon and cited the foregoing
26 interpretation of California law in ruling that Plaintiff is entitled to tolling under Section 27 352.1. While Defendants argue that the interpretation is incorrect, they do not address or 28 acknowledge Jones, nor do they explain why that decision by the Ninth Circuit is not binding on this Court. This Court is plainly not free to ignore or overrule an

United States District Court

For the Northern District of California

1 interpretation of law by the Ninth Circuit, as Defendants would have this Court do, and 2 consequently there is no substantial room for a difference of opinion on the question of 3 law that this Court must decide.

4 Accordingly, the motion for certification for an interlocutory appeal is DENIED.

5 2. Appointment of Counsel

6 As noted, Defendants' dispositive motions were denied, and the parties did not 7 reach a settlement at the mediation proceedings. Plaintiff has requested and is in need of 8 counsel to assist him in this matter as it proceeds to trial, and good and just cause 9 appearing,

10 IT IS ORDERED that Plaintiff shall be referred to the Federal Pro Bono Project in 11 the manner set forth below:

12 (1) The Clerk shall forward to the Federal Pro Bono Project: (a) a copy of this 13 order, (b) a copy of the docket sheet, and (c) a copy of the operative complaint and 14 relevant Court orders.

15 (2) Upon an attorney being located to represent Plaintiff, that attorney shall be 16 appointed as counsel for Plaintiff in this matter until further order of the Court.

17 (3) All proceedings in this action are STAYED until four weeks from the date an 18 attorney is appointed to represent Plaintiff in this action.

19 This order terminates docket numbers 33 and 35.

20 IT IS SO ORDERED.
